REVERIES

“Oh, the days dwindle down to a precious few...” We will party hearty on the evening of June first, and share our closing worship on June 9. I feel our approach farewells with both gratitude and awe. You did it! And me? I got to be your doula, witnessing and accompanying you through this mighty rebirth.

Was it really two years ago when, upon arrival, I wrote:

The most important things to remember about being in the middle are:

It absolutely feels like it will be like this forever.

It absolutely won't.

You have to be in the middle until you are not.

It absolutely did sometimes feel like the uncertainty, discomfort and challenges would last forever. It absolutely has not. You have patiently and trustingly stayed in the middle until you are not. First Parish successfully practiced awareness, direct communication resistance, and appreciation for not knowing — and now you know. Rev. Howard N. Dana will be First Parish's next settled Senior Minister.

I have walked with you, been your confidante, your nemesis, your cheerleader and your advocate. I tried not to tell you what to do, but I probably did. I tried to listen well, but sometimes I probably did not. I told you things you do not want to hear. In spite of any errors or omissions, we did well. We have shared much, accomplished much, grown lots, confronted challenges, savored gains, and suffered loss. Together we stayed in the excitement, the disappointment, the anger, the confusion, the hurt and the hope, right smack in the middle, until we were not. First Parish — you — are so, so ready to embrace what comes next.

Until our Annual Meeting June 9, we will be completing our interim work (see “Finding Your Interim Minister” on page 3) and planning for Howard's arrival August first. The staff and I are assuring that First Parish is well cared for, and prepared. We will say farewell, letting go of a very special two years. Saying good-bye and thank You are essential parts of our interim process, bringing closure to our time together. There are stories to tell, truths to be honored, and moments to celebrate. I will be right here with you until I am not.

Much metta,

The priorities for this budget include raising staff salaries toward the midpoint for a church our size, and increasing First Parish's contribution to the UUA. Come listen and participate as we begin the next chapter in our church's history.

Coffee Hour Herb Garden Party — June 16

One of the most delightful places on our First Parish campus is the Deborah Webster Greeley Memorial Herb Garden. Doug Baker and a group of dedicated volunteers have been very busy getting the Herb Garden ready for the summer season, and we extend heartfelt thanks to each of them for creating such a beautiful sanctuary that brings joy to so many of us. Special herb-flavored food and beverages will be served. See you in the Herb Garden!

Play Reading Group

The Play Reading group is switching format for the summer. We will read poetry aloud on the first Friday of the month, with the exception of July 5. All are welcome. Bring poems to share and discuss. The pleasure of poetry is enhanced by sharing the story of the poet as well. In September, we will resume reading plays with themes of social justice, spiritual attainment and family conflict. STANDING COMMITTEE NEWS AND NOTES

Still basking in the glow of our vote to call Rev. Howard Dana, the Standing Committee (SC) held its May meeting on Monday, May 13, at Alec Walker's house (because the church is closed on Mondays). It was our eleventh monthly meeting of the year.

First order of business was the introduction of our new Director of Operations, Fifi Ball, who began work on the May 13. Fifi will hit the ground running as she handles the final stages of next year's budgeting, being coordinated with the late stages of the annual pledge drive. We all extended a hearty welcome to her. (See box on this page for an introduction to Fifi.)

We heard from two groups of parishioners who wanted to inform the SC about their proposals for RE staffing and Wright Tavern operations. We thanked the parishioners for giving the SC some useful background and assuring us that the proposals are aligned with our mission and strategic ends. They will continue to work with Elaine Peresluha so that concerns may be addressed in the coming year.

Treasurer Suzanne Lowe reported on the feedback of the May 7 and 11 congregational discussions on the budget and on additional meetings with Elaine and Fifi. She emphasized that the goal was a balanced budget to be completed by June 2 for consideration at the June 9 Annual Meeting (see page 2 for meeting notice).

Discussion emphasized the importance of building a "sustainable" budget that would allow us to live within our means, with an additional ranked list of items available if our revenues exceeded our plan.

The current five basic assumptions in the budget are:

1. A 5 percent increase in health care costs
2. The Trustees' level revenue funding
3. A $30K fundraising event occurring in the fall
4. All other expenses, the same
5. Revenue at the conservative projection of the Treasurer's Advisory Committee

The current top three new priorities in the budget remain:

1. An increase in Senior Minister's salary to the contracted amount
2. An increase in staff salaries toward midpoints for Large Church One
3. A beginning of a process to reestablish UUA fair share

The stewardship drive is going well and there is UU evidence that a first year with a new minister will see a "bump" in pledging. The stewardship groups are working to ensure that we benefit from this opportunity.

In our monthly discussion of a governing policy, we affirmed that we will continue the regular time at each monthly meeting devoted to policy review and revision. Suzanne suggested and everyone approved that we also include in the series a budget tutorial to introduce attendees to our revised budget reports and to basic accounting principles.

We assigned a team to review our own SC progress toward our SC annual goals, and a second team to review the Executive Team's progress toward its annual goals. Both teams will report back at the June 2 meeting.

Short discussions on a series of other topics included the 464-vote meeting, Trustees revised loan agreement, financial audit, bylaw committee concerns, recognition events for Melissa Gallo on May 19, Elaine Peresluha on June 1, Howard Dana's Installation on September 29, and reports of contacts with other committees (For additional details, please see the minutes of the meeting when they are posted.)

The Standing Committee will hold three meetings before the September Meeting House News appears. As always, you can find copies of the approved SC meeting minutes in the member section of the First Parish website. You may also find recent postings on the SC bulletin board in the first floor hallway. Our meetings are open to the public, at 6:30–9:00 p.m. on the second Sunday of the month. ♦

Director of Operations Joins Staff

On May 15, 2013, we welcomed Fifi Ball to our staff as First Parish's Director of Operations (the position formerly known as Business Manager and held by Melissa Gallo). We are thrilled with both her financial experience and her relational skills.

Fifi lives in Maynard and attends the Harvard UU Church. Since 1994, Fifi has worked in her own business as an office organizer and productivity consultant; she has an MBA from Simmons School of Management. Fifi enjoys working with both numbers and people and is delighted to be here with us at First Parish. She can be reached at fball@firstparish.org. In her spare time, Fifi enjoys hiking, biking, reading and sewing.

Mindfulness Is . . .

“Mindfulness” seems to be the word of the day according to the media. But what is “mindfulness”? In its simplest form, mindfulness is bringing awareness to the present moment. How easy that sounds, but how difficult it is! Much of the time our thoughts are ruminating over the past or projecting into the future; very little of lives are actually spent noticing the present moment. Watch a small child completely transfixed by a puddle on the sidewalk and you will have a glimpse of mindfulness. As we age, mindfulness is often trained out of us because we think we need to be more practical, or we feel we are too busy, or too stressed, or we tell ourselves we just don’t have the time. However, as we learn more about the inner workings of the brain and the mind, mindfulness is now recommended as an antidote for the busyness and stress of modern life. It soothes and balances our emotions, and it helps to build self-compassion and empathy for others. Mindfulness helps us to slow down and navigate life’s joys and challenges with a bit more awareness. One of Concord’s own, Henry David Thoreau, spoke of mindfulness when he wrote, “ I went to the woods because I wished to live deliberately, to front only the essential facts of life, and see if I could not learn what it had to teach, and not, when I came to die, discover that I had not lived.” As the longer days of summer beckon, grant yourself permission to once again experience mindfulness — ask a child to be your teacher. Wishing you a mindful summer,

First Parish in Concord 2013 Stewardship Campaign

- The enthusiasm and energy following the vote to call the Reverend Howard N. Dana translated into a surge of pledges the past two weeks. Many families even have come back and increased their previous pledges. Our congregation is energized and showing a new level of vitality. We’re all looking forward to the fresh start with our new minister.
- We would like to see Howard begin his tenure at First Parish with an ample budget for church activities. We are currently at 75 percent of our pledge goal, but with less than three weeks until the Annual Meeting. For those of you who have yet to pledge, we encourage you to send your pledge cards in as soon as possible. When considering the amount to pledge, remember that you are helping to support a broad range of programs, activities, and social causes that are all part of what makes our experience as UU’s and members of the First Parish community so special. The Stewardship campaign will continue but will be more directed; if you have not yet pledged, you may still be contacted by phone by one of the Stewards.
- It is time to step back and give you our sincere thanks for your contributions to our First Parish community. We so appreciate your support. Thank you again all who have affirmed this historic moment for First Parish by returning your pledge cards. Also important is that some of you have committed to a sustaining automatic contribution to the operating budget, which allows for better financial planning as the year moves ahead. ♦
- Your Stewardship Team: Elaine Peresluha, Rachel Baker, Sue Dobbie, George Gagliardi and Richard Fortier

Caring Connection Cooking Thanks!

- Thanks to Vivian Walworth, Kathy Mayer, Berni Jenkins, Petra Betts, Leslie Fisher, Jini McCoubrey, Priscilla Smith, Joyce Biggs and Val Holt for a fun and productive cooking session! Our Caring Connection freezer is now replenished with vegan soup, and vegan, vegetarian and omnivore entrees — enough to keep us supplied through the early fall. Lovingly delivered meals from First Parish can mean so much to those in our community. Thanks for making that possible! —Tracey Hurd, Rhoda Miller and Carolyn Shohet, Caring Connection Cook leaders

MINISTERIAL INTERN

A minister friend of mine recently said that after deep, serious reflection, she had determined that the call to ministry she felt so long ago must have really been the result of sleep deprivation from a youth weekend retreat and the concomitant coffee jag. After four years and many long hours of hard and difficult work building up trust in a church still dealing with a previous failed ministry, my friend was obviously having trouble connecting to her true, original call.

I offer this up as a precautionary tale. Most of us who participate regularly in the various programs and missions of First Parish have followed a call of sorts. We are here for a reason — many reasons actually. To borrow and adapt the chalice lighting words from Mel Harkrader-Pine I used back in March:

- Some of us come here looking for solace.*
- Some of us come here and gave it to them.*
- Some of us come here seeking music.*
- Some of us come here and gave it, joyfully.*
- Some of us come here seeking learning, growth.*
- Some of us come here and provided it.*
- Some of us come here looking for a sense of security, a safe haven.*
- Some of us come here and provided it.*
- Some of us come here seeking the joy of community.*
- Some of us come here and created that.*
- Some of us come here wanting to serve.*
- Some of us come here and made it possible for them.*

It is true that our call to be here might shift back and forth from seeker to provider, and it is also true that with all things there is a continuum of dedication, a range of passion attached to our sense of belonging; but we are here, together, nonetheless, because some energy has moved us to come.

You'll note that nowhere in the reading above does it say, "Some of us come here to engage in long, arduous committee meetings," or "Some of us come here to go over the line-item budget 20 times to be sure the allocation of funds is as fair as possible." Of course it occasionally becomes necessary to engage in the sometimes tough work of doing church, but my long-arrived-at point is that to stay balanced, to be all that we can be together, we need to continually reconnect to our own church calling clearly and faithfully, even as we go about the day-to-day work that makes this place possible.

In seminary we are taught that in order to stay connected to our call, we need to maintain a healthy spiritual practice. And so what is good for the minister should also be good for the congregation. It is truly beneficial to take the time to remember why we arrived here in the first place, and our reasons for staying. It's also a good practice to share our story with others in the community and to be reminded that they too are here following a call, that their gifts and needs complement our own. Finally, it is important to remember that we are here to take care of each other, to celebrate those individual callings, and rejoice in the often-incredible things that result in our coming together as one.

With our "regular" church year coming to a close, I wanted to remind you that we're really still here during the summer, and the opportunity for reflection and connection is still available to you. There are still interesting services every Sunday and there is still good fellowship to be had afterward. If you should want to show up during the week for a conversation, I'd be happy to oblige. Tuesday through Thursday mornings are good. Just give me a call! ♦

—Tony Fisher,
Ministerial Intern

CONGREGATIONAL LIFE

What a year it has been in the life of the congregation!

I arrived in September into the middle of the interim process. I heard from many of you about your excitement for the future. I heard about your passion for building a deep sense of belonging within this faith-full community. The last nine months we have looked at our governance structure and membership policies. We have considered the routes of communication within the congregation. We have discussed the meaning of right relationships and how we want to be together in community.

The new Congregational Life Council (CLC), like a phoenix, emerged out of the dying embers of the long-standing Membership Committee. Under the expansive Congregational Life umbrella, we have experimented with different ways of sharing food during coffee hour and where to place the First Parish Connections and Welcome Table. We have modernized some communications with visitors, and streamlined the New to Unitarian Universalism classes and “path to community.” And most recently we have launched the successful Ambassador Program, where members of the congregation engage fellow members in appreciative inquiry about First Parish.

Candidating Week introduced me to the fun-loving and motivated congregation that the entire Unitarian Universalist Association looks to for inspiration. What a joy it was to be present during your meetings with Rev. Howard Dana and at the vote to call him as your next senior minister. I look forward to the coming year to see what we will all do together. It is a true blessing to be here with you.

In the past, the position of Membership Director was a ten-month agreement; but with the expanded hours and role of the Director of Congregational Life, I will be working through the summer. I will be working with other staff to gain the skills I need to work proficiently with the new database. I hope to develop, with members of both the Congregational Life Council (CLC) and the Nominating/Leadership Development Committee, an effective method to gather useful and usable data from individual members and friends of First Parish, in order to facilitate the community building programs and volunteer needs of the congregation. Because the Ambassador Program is a separate initiative from the Visiting Stewards program of the financial stewardship campaign, the ambassador conversations will continue throughout the summer. (Please let me know if you would like to have a conversation sooner rather than later.) This summer there will be summer picnics, like last summer. Information about the picnics will be e-mailed out on FP Announce, or you may send me an e-mail to double-check the date, time, and location. ♦

In faith and fellowship,

MUSINGS AND MUSIC NOTE

Source of all to thee we raise our grateful hymns of praise.

We sing this adaptation of F. S. Pierpont’s “For the Beauty of the Earth” to at least three different tunes. All of them run through my mind in these days approaching summer. It is easy to give thanks during this season of growth and rebirth, when the seeds sown during Elaine’s interim ministry have sprouted into the hope of a new ministry and a new era for First Parish in Concord.

I am grateful for all who regularly came together to deepen spiritually, build community and make a positive difference in the world through the music and arts ministry — even in the cold days of winter.

So, a few “grateful hymns of praise”:

For the First Parish Choir, who faithfully lead worship in song. Their combined voices remind us that we are much more than the sum of our parts, and together we can accomplish what no individual can alone.

For our Chalice and Junior Choirs and the joy of their singing. For Gail Carey, whose creativity and love for our children and for music ministry have guided us to build musical bridges with the UU Urban Ministry in Roxbury.

For the Gospel Choir and Anderson Manuel: Small in numbers, but huge in spirit, they invited us to “tear down every wall” and let love be our religion. Rob Castillo, Mark Weltner, Rebecca Curzon and Roselyn Romberg were there each week to support the youth with musical accompaniment, rhythm and harmony.

For the By Your Side Singers, who create a sacred, meditative space, and who provide comfort and laughter with their singing. Their leadership in two Taize vespers services introduced a new worship experience.

For Eric Huenneke, our organist, who continues to reveal beautiful new sounds in the new instrument that edges towards completion.

For our Handbell Players and Martha Goodman, who reminded us how we thrill to the sound of bells in our Sanctuary.

For Tom and Sue Beck, who conceived and directed “The Family (Broad)Way,” building a community of parish performers who touchingly reminded us of the connective tissue in our church family.

For those who “Rise Up Singing” each month, sharing songs and building community through music. Our “regulars” have welcomed a growing number of “friends” from the wider community.

For the Artists and Photographers who graced the walls of the Altshuler Gallery with their beautiful creations.

For the Music Events Committee, who brought us the wonderful music of “Klezamir” and the “Sarasa” Chamber Music series

For the Arts Council, who met together to coordinate and facilitate the variety of arts events at First Parish, inspiring us and bringing us together in creative community.

... for the mystic harmony linking sense to sound and sight: Source of all to thee we raise, this, our hymn of grateful praise! ♦

Blessings,

— Beth Norton

Music Director

Exciting Changes for Gospel Choir and Youth Music Next Year!

Next year we’re making some changes to the Gospel Choir schedule that we hope will allow for and encourage more participation by our youth. Starting in September, the Gospel Choir will rehearse regularly on Wednesday afternoons from 5:15 to 6:15 p.m., concurrent with the Chalice Choir rehearsal. We expect that this change of schedule will work better with our youth schedules. And it will allow for easier collaboration between the various music groups. Gospel Choir is open to singers in 7th–12th grade.

In addition to this new rehearsal time for Gospel Choir, Avi Salloway is starting “The Heard Band,” which will rehearse on Sunday evenings from 6 to 7 p.m., right before YRUU meetings. We’re planning for several opportunities next year for the Gospel Choir and the Heard Band to combine forces for worship and for other musical events. Stayed tuned for details — and save Wednesday afternoons and Sunday evenings!

Can you remember the moment when you became an activist?

I can't. But I have a few inklings.

It might have been when I first learned how to cross religious boundaries, spending my days with a Mormon day care provider and my nights with my atheist-by-default, soon to be Unitarian Universalist family.

It could have been when, at the age of 8, my parents first took me to Boston Pride and I came home with rainbow flags and Planned Parenthood keychains.

Or, perhaps it was when I took my first service trip abroad, to Zambia, at the age of fourteen, and saw how AIDS had reaped that country of an entire generation.

Maybe it became concrete when I made a human chain of loving kindness to block the Westboro Baptist Church from spewing their hatred on members of my high school's Gay Straight Alliance.

All I can say is that, somewhere along the line, doing good unto others became deeply embedded in my spirit.

Can you remember when you first felt the spark of social justice within you? Please tell me your story. I'd love to hear from you! ♦

In faith,

Mother's Day Peace Walk Recap

Thank you to everyone who supported the 17th Annual Louis D. Brown Institute Peace Walk. First Parish in Concord, through personal donations from parishioners, as well as family and friends of those who walked, donated $1791. When Louis was eighteen, he joined the group Teens Against Violence. Louis said to his mother, Tina Chery, "How can we be the problem when 18 years ago we were just babies? We were born into this and it is up to OUR generation to make it better for the next generation." To make Louis's vision a reality, The Peace Institute works with youth and families to focus on internal healing so they can turn their pain and anger into power and action which brings healing.

Learn More about Social Action at First Parish

The First Parish Social Action Community (SAC) helps parishioners connect with a diverse and exciting range of social action projects. From year to year, I just never know who will step up to be the big leaders in RE. Most of the biggest leaders, you hardly even see. People like Jamie Atkins, who led Coming of Age this year ... and stepped up again to lead it next year too. Or Caroline and Jim McCloy, who led the Eighth Grade Play two years in a row — Tom and Sue Beck have stepped up to lead it for their second time next year. Jan Power stepped up for Neighboring Faiths and has held her hand up for next year too. Our OWL Teachers, Lora Venesy, Gianna Drew, Jeff Brainerd and David

McGaffin, who come back for one, two and even more years. Stepping up. These programs count on people who are willing to put themselves out there enough to say, “Yes, I am willing to lead.”

Those programs are the big ones, the ones that cannot happen without a serious commitment of time, patience and — well — love. Love for First Parish and our youth. Can I ever thank them enough? Not really. I must count on the relationships they make with our teens as their real thanks. These adults show they care and that matters a lot to our teens. They are worth it, and these adults let them know that with their leadership.

What a year it has been. ♦

Neighboring Faiths

This year our Neighboring Faiths curriculum was totally revitalized. Jan Power took this important program in a way that reflects our deep commitment to our youth’s understanding of other faiths. We do not just “tolerate” other religious traditions; we embrace them as representing the many ways of expressing divine and human love. This incredible program helps our seventh graders understand our faith in relationship to other faiths, not separate from other faiths. Jan has done so much to summarize each faith’s traditions and spiritual practices, but her work is much more than facts and figures. This new curriculum asks our youth to

First Parish Community Garden — Summer RE!

If you want your family to be part of some real social justice work, sign up to care for our community garden. All summer, we grow flowers and vegetables for Open Table, Pastoral Care ministries and green supplies for our RE program. Here is the Doodle link if you would like to sign up with others to work for a week in our garden:

<http://doodle.com/esp2dxagsbyfu55w>

I encourage multiple families to sign up for the same week. Gardening with others is way more fun.

If you would just like to show up and work, come on Thursdays between 3 and 4 p.m. If you are lucky, others will also be there at that time to care for the garden. Kids learn so much working in the dirt.

OWL — Our Whole Lives...

This year was a whirlwind! We had an energetic group of 24 teens. We were constantly amazed by this smart and engaging bunch, as we plugged through topics like consent, relationships, gender roles, STI’s, and decision making with speakers, games, and plenty of snacks! I feel particularly lucky to have taught with

Jeff Brainerd, Gianna Drew and Dave McGaffin. We had lots of laughs, learning new things as answered questions posed by our 13-year-olds! We had a lot of fun getting to know each other better, while laying UU foundations for healthy adulthood. — Lora Venesy

TRANSYLVANIA PARTNERSHIP NEWS

This summer will be a busy time for the Transylvania Partnership Community!

On the evening of July 14, please join us for a special “send-off” celebration for the 14 First Parishioners who are participating in the first Family Pilgrimage to Székelykeresztúr July 17-29. (Look for more details to come in the Sunday News and FP Announce.) If you have a letter or other item (think small, flat and light!) that you’d like to have carried to Transylvania, please let Rodger Mattlage or Ken Estabrook know by July 1.

Although some of the pilgrims (Rodger Mattlage, Jess Atkins, Cam Vilain, Sarah Napoline, Linde Ghery, and Ken Estabrook) have been to Transylvania before, this will be the first trip for most of them (Pam Howell, Suzie Weaver, Topher and Sarah Buck, and our four young pilgrims Nory and Sanche Buck, Aurora and Haven Estabrook). It will be so interesting to see our kids and the Transylvanian kids sharing their crafts and other activities with one another. Will Old World craftsmanship ever be the same after gimp, duct tape, and iron-on beads?

We will continue to meet during the summer as we create and plan an exciting new vision for the Transylvania Partnership. We are putting together the coming year’s program of quarterly events, including these two in September and October; an amazing photo celebration of our Transylvania Partnership at First Parish, and on the evening of Friday, September 27, a potluck dinner with a special speaker and presentation on this summer’s pilgrimage.

Please join us in growing the Transylvania Partnership. There are many ways — big and small, but all important — to support the partnership. Learn more at one of our upcoming meetings scheduled for 7 p.m. in the Emerson Room on Thursday, June 13, July 11 and August 15.

Wanted: Laptops As we travel to Transylvania this summer, we will be carrying laptops for the Unitarian high school in Székelykeresztúr. If you or someone you know has a laptop that is no longer being used, please consider donating it to this effort. The laptops are refurbished by Ed Sterling (ed@edsterling.com), so they can be outdated or even no longer working. For more information, please contact Dana Booth at dana.a.booth@gmail.com or by phone at 978-369-5702.

We’re on Facebook! Please visit (and “like”) the “Concord Székelykeresztúr Partnership” Facebook page at www.facebook.com/ConcordKeresztur. ♦

Minden jót! “Best wishes!”

"Cosmology Today: The Big Bang, the Multiverse, and Everything"

Wednesday, June 5, 2013, 7:00 PM

At First Parish In Concord, 20 Lexington Road, Concord, MA

Cosmology. The last 15 years have brought an explosion of astronomical discoveries about the universe as a whole, the earliest moment from which it erupted, how everything got from then to now, and hints about a wider "multiverse" of countless other Big Bangs separate from ours. Origin questions that used to be philosophy and religion are becoming addressable by science and experiment. Get caught up on 21st-century cosmology with Alan MacRobert, a senior editor of Sky & Telescope, America's leading astronomy magazine.

Meeting will start at 7:00 with socializing and announcements. Program then at 7:15, followed by discussion finishing by 9:45. Then more socializing and an open Steering Committee meeting, all invited.

Alan became an amateur astronomer in 1965 and a Sky & Telescope subscriber in 1966. He joined the editorial staff in 1982 and is now a senior editor. Over the years he has played a role in practically every part of the magazine, especially upcoming celestial events, amateur observing projects, equipment tests, and news articles. He also has a big hand in Night Sky and its Web site.

Among his most popular articles have been the Star-Hopping series of 28 deep-sky tours, which he scouted using the 6-inch reflecting telescope he built at age 15. Many of these are collected in his book Star-Hopping for Backyard Astronomers. More than a decade ago he built an observatory for his 12.5-inch f/6 reflector, shown here. Before joining Sky & Telescope Alan worked as a reporter and editor for alternative newspapers. His physics degree is from Cornell University in 1972. He has contributed to Not Necessarily the New Age, The Fringes of Reason, and many other books and magazines. He makes radio and TV appearances, writes an astronomy column for the Boston Globe, and speaks at amateur astronomy gatherings. In 2003 the asteroid (10373) MacRobert was named in his honor.
